“FAEA is a very rare foundation, which care for it's scholar anytime, anywhere. I am proud to be a FAEA scholar. FAEA help me to go ahead with great success.”

Kamlesh Kumar

5. Learning To Lead

Learning from the last nine years' experience, FAEA believes it is imperative to provide soft skills training (communication skills, team building, problem-solving etc.) aimed at leadership development. The aim of providing Scholarship supplemented with skill development program is to create socially responsible leaders who would occupy mantles of leadership in society and contribute to the betterment of the nation. So, to make their education relevant to changing times, a number of training programs were planned last year. Two training programs were organized during 26th December 2009 to 3rd January 2010 and November 11th 2010 to November 20th 2010 at Bangalore. FAEA hopes the learning journey planned for these students will break the shackles of limits and engage the young adults with options, abundance and possibilities.

National Level Workshop on Skill Facilitation

“Skill Development Programme for FAEA-TATA Scholars during 08.06.2011 to 18.06.2011”.

This year the first program was organized at Kirori Mal College on 'Skill Development Programme for FAEA-TATA Scholars. The workshop was held at the college Seminar Room and the participating scholars were provided accommodation on the College Campus (college hostel and warden's residence).

Dr. Abid Hussain, former Member, Constitution Commission of India and Indian Ambassador to United States of America at inaugural function at Kirori Mal College, Delhi University with Prof. V.R. Mehta and Dr. Bhim Sen Singh, Principal Kirori Mal College

Dr. Abid Hussain was kind enough to accept the invitation to be the Chief Guest and inaugurate the workshop. Dr. Bhim Sen Singh, Principal, Kirori Mal College, welcomed the Chief Guest who inaugurated the workshop by lighting the traditional lamp. He delivered the inaugural speech. He emphasized on the ethos of Indian Culture and the value of education embedded in it. The occasion was graced by the presence of Prof. V. R. Mehta, Member Secretary FAEA, Mrs. Sheh Mehta and some faculty of the college. The inaugural session was followed by a tea break.

The workshop was primarily designed to develop skill among the scholars. The first session started with a self-introduction of the participants followed by discussing the focal theme of the workshop i.e. understanding one's potentials. The idea was to bring out what these scholars already had in them and make them understand that they had everything in them that is required to become an achiever. At the same time the programme had as one of its objectives to bring them closer to technology and recent trends in areas of study, research, development along with social and environmental issues which are generally believed to influence policy decisions locally as well as globally.

A student welcoming Shri Ajay Kumar, Vice President Communications Tata Industries

Keeping these objectives in mind the introductory session (Let us know each other) was followed by an almost 5 hours' session with a well known motivation and manager guru Mr. P. S. Rathore. He discussed the psychology of communication and ways to develop skills of effective communication in different environments like an interview for a job or discussing with a prospective client or for that matter people in authority. The importance of mannerism/s, body language in communication was discussed through active involvement of the participants. To overcome inhibitions, it was explained through demonstration where the participating scholars offered themselves as subjects. Mr. Rathore convinced the participants that what they believed was unattainable was very much within their reach. He motivated them to break hard compressed sheets by a single stroke of their hand and even to walk on the broken pieces of glass to illustrate that if the desire to accomplish a task is strong then even impossible become possible. The participants, not once but twice, walked on the glass pieces. By the end of the session the intended impact was more than evident.

The highlight of the second day of the workshop was discussions about the way economy or economics is being discussed in public domain and what is the agenda of such discussions. Mr. Ajay Ranjan Singh who teaches economics at Kirori Mal College and is presently pursuing his Ph. D. in Australia was the speaker. The session was followed by a discussion by Dr. Pankaj Sinha of FMS (DU). He discussed the possibilities that await the scholars with or without management degree and also the institutes and discipline that would suit them. Mr. Sinha explained what the top B – Schools look for in the candidates that these schools assess through tests and interviews and group discussions.

Students in session of Mr. Rathore

On all the days the scholars used to begin their day with Yoga Session and the last two
